Website Visitors

Like most website operators, AMZScout collects non-personally-identifying information of the sort that web browsers and servers typically make available, such as the browser type, language preference, referring site, and the date and time of each visitor request. AMZScout's purpose in collecting non-personally identifying information is to better understand how AMZScout's visitors use its website. From time to time, AMZScout may release non-personally-identifying information in the aggregate, e.g., by publishing a report on trends in the usage of its website.

AMZScout also collects potentially personally-identifying information like Internet Protocol (IP) addresses for logged in users and for users leaving comments on our blog. AMZScout only discloses logged in user and commenter IP addresses under the same circumstances that it uses and discloses personally-identifying information as described below, except that blog commenter IP addresses and email addresses are visible and disclosed to the administrators of the blog where the comment was left.

Gathering of Personally-Identifying Information

Certain visitors to AMZScout's Website choose to interact with AMZScout in ways that require AMZScout to gather personally-identifying information. The amount and type of information that AMZScout gathers depends on the nature of the interaction. Those whom engage in transactions with AMZScout are asked to provide additional information, including as necessary the personal and financial information required to process those transactions. In each case, AMZScout collects such information only insofar as is necessary or appropriate to fulfill the purpose of the visitor's interaction with AMZScout. AMZScout does not disclose personally-identifying information other than as described below. And visitors can always refuse to supply personally-identifying information, with the caveat that it may prevent them from engaging in certain website-related activities.

Aggregated Statistics

AMZScout may collect statistics about the behavior of visitors to its website. AMZScout may display this information publicly or provide it to others. However, AMZScout does not disclose personally-identifying information other than as described below.

Protection of Certain Personally-Identifying Information

AMZScout discloses potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information only to those of its employees, contractors and affiliated organizations that (i) need to know that information in order to process it on AMZScout's behalf or to provide services available at AMZScout's website, and (ii) that have agreed not to disclose it to others. Some of those employees, contractors and affiliated organizations may be located outside of your home country; by using AMZScout's websites, you consent to the transfer of such information to them. AMZScout will not rent or sell potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information to anyone. Other than to its employees, contractors and affiliated organizations, as described above, AMZScout discloses potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information only in response to a subpoena, court order or other governmental request, or when AMZScout believes in good faith that disclosure is reasonably necessary to protect the property or rights of AMZScout, third parties or the public at large. If you are a registered user of an AMZScout website and have supplied your email address, AMZScout may occasionally send you an email to tell you about new features, solicit your feedback, or just keep you up to date with what's going on with AMZScout and our products. If you send us a request (for example via a support email or via one of our feedback mechanisms), we reserve the right to publish it in order to help us clarify or respond to your request or to help us support other users. AMZScout takes all measures reasonably necessary to protect against the unauthorized access, use, alteration or destruction of potentially personally-identifying and personally-identifying information.

Cookies

A cookie is a string of information that a website stores on a visitor's computer, and that the visitor's browser provides to the website each time the visitor returns. AMZScout uses cookies to help AMZScout identify and track visitors, their usage of AMZScout website, and their website access preferences. AMZScout visitors who do not wish to have cookies placed on their computers should set their browsers to refuse cookies before using AMZScout's websites, with the drawback that certain features of AMZScout's websites may not function properly without the aid of cookies.

Business Transfers

If AMZScout, or substantially all of its assets, were acquired, or in the unlikely event that AMZScout goes out of business or enters bankruptcy, user information would be one of the assets that is transferred or acquired by a third party. You acknowledge that such transfers may occur, and that any acquirer of AMZScout may continue to use your personal information as set forth in this policy.

Ads

Any ads appearing on our website may be delivered to users by advertising partners, who may set cookies. These cookies allow the ad server to recognize your computer each time they send you an online advertisement to compile information about you or others who use your computer. This information allows ad networks to, among other things, deliver targeted advertisements that they believe will be of most interest to you. This Privacy Policy covers the use of cookies by AMZScout and does not cover the use of cookies by any advertisers.

Accessing and Correcting Your Information

You can help ensure that your contact information and preferences are accurate, complete, and up to date by logging in to your account at <https://amzscout.net/>. For other personal information we hold, we will provide you with access for any purpose including to request that we correct the data if it is inaccurate or delete the data if we are not required to retain it by law or for legitimate business purposes. We may decline to process requests that are frivolous/vexatious, jeopardize the privacy of others, are extremely impractical, or for which access is not otherwise required by local law.
